

The Firs 2014

REFORMED PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH OF NORTH AMERICA

ISSUE 2
MAY 24, 2014

REGISTRATION STILL OPEN!

CONFERENCE DETAILS:

THE FIRS CONFERENCE CENTER

4605 Cable Street
Bellingham, WA
98229

JULY 14-18, 2014

PASTOR DAVID HANSON

of State College RPC, Pennsylvania, will be speaking on
OVERCOMING BY ABIDING IN CHRIST:

Lessons from 1 John

TO REGISTER
Register online or print registration form at [www.
seattleRPchurch
.org](http://www.seattleRPchurch.org)

Early registration numbers high Forecast showing 99.99999999% chance of fun

The May 15 Pre-Registration Deadline has passed, and our current number of registrants stands at 77.

What does this mean? These are great numbers for early registration, which means lots of people and lots of fun.

Did you miss out? Nawww! Don't be sad — registration is still open!

As long as we've got rooms and beds, late registrants are welcome. Actually, you're always welcome, even if we don't have rooms and beds. We'd just have to figure something else out.

Do come — and bring a friend! Don't miss the opening night ice cream social. Don't miss the engaging presentations by Pastor Dave Hanson. Don't miss the water skiing, the volleyball and basketball and ping pong tournaments, the talent show, or the campfires.

See the article below from Seattle RPC's pastoral intern Jordan Feagley, to learn more about what's in store for teens at Summer Conference 2014.

teens

This one's for you. Special program for ages 12-18

What are your plans July 14-18? Fleeing through the sweltering heat, from air conditioned house to air conditioned car to air conditioned mall?

Imagine this instead: inviting a friend to escape with you to the cool, green Northwest where July days are usually sunny and around 75 degrees.

If you haven't been to family camp before you should definitely consider coming.

Beyond the refreshing weather, Family Camp is an amazing time of learning, family, fellowship, fun...and great food!

This year our conference speaker will be Pastor David

See "Teens" on reverse

REGISTER ASAP!

July 14-18, 2014

The Firs, Bellingham, WA

Seattle Reformed Presbyterian Church
6554 20th Ave NE
Seattle, WA 98115

Phone: 206-522-3187

Register online at www.seattleRPchurch.org

Registration is Still Open!

Register online or print a registration form at www.seattleRPchurch.org.

Cabins are quickly running out. Register ASAP for the best chance at the lodging you want.

Silver Lining Alert: If you miss out on a cabin, you'll pay less to stay in the lodge or dorm!

If you're willing to share your photos, stories and reasons for attending Summer Conferences for our readers, please contact jennypiper206@gmail.com

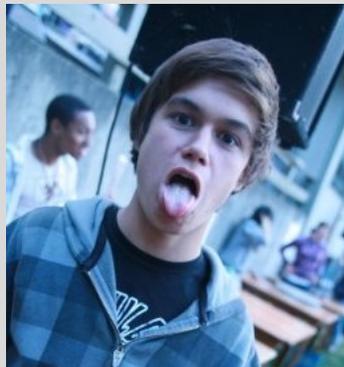

teens A place of your own at camp

Continued from front

Hanson of Grace Reformed Presbyterian Church in State College, PA. You will really enjoy what he has to say. After his morning talks, the counselors will take the youth to our own separate facility to play games and discuss the things we've learned. I think you'll find that you will learn a lot at camp and really grow in your walk with Christ.

But camp isn't just about lectures and learning. A key part of camp is fellowship and the relationships you develop there. You'll be staying in a dorm with other people your age, and have several hours a day of free time to spend with new and old friends. At The Firs you can choose from many different fun activities, games, sports, and water events including swimming, boating, and water skiing during your free time.

Can you imagine making friends that will last for a lifetime? Well, this is often one of the greatest things that come out of camp. I know many people who have lifelong friendships which started at an RP family camp.

I strongly encourage you to consider coming to The Firs Family Camp 2014. You will learn a lot, grow in your walk with Christ, and make some great friends. I hope to see you there!

- Jordan Feagley, Conference Youth Director and Seattle RPC intern